John Burch Injured in Attack This Morning

Frank M. Turpin Hits Farmer With Scoop Shovel While Latter Is Looking Over A Corn Crib.

John Burch, a prominent farmer near Clearmont, was attacked this morning by Frank M. Turpin, living three miles southwest of Clearmont, when Burch called at the Turpin home to look over a crib of corn which he had purchased. Turpin hit Burch on the side of his face with a scoop shovel, which cut Burch's face to his cheek bone, and bruised his arm. Burch came to Maryville to have his injuries treated.

Burch accompanied by Ed Dew and Lawrence Evans, went to the Turpin home early this morning. After looking over the corn, Burch claimed it had been damaged some. Apparently Turpin became infuriated, picked up the shovel and attacked Burch. Burch warded off the blow some by throwing up his arm.

Turpin has been an inmate at the State Hospital at St. Joseph. He was charged by George P. Wright, prosecuting attorney, with felonious assault.

Mr. Burch said today that Turpin had been a guest at the Burch home for dinner one day this week.

Court Rules Sinclair Must Go to Trial

Washington, Nov. 6.—Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate, today was ordered to stand trial in the District of Columbia Supreme Court on an indictment charging contempt, for refusal to testify before the Senate oil investigating committee.

The district court of appeals canceled a permit for a special appeal from the indictment, which was granted Sinclair in 1924. Attorneys for Sinclair intimated they might appeal to the United States Supreme Court, charging that the Walsh Act, under which the appeal was disallowed, is unconstitutional.

BATTERY C IS BEST IN FIRING

COLONEL WILLIAMS MAKES INSPECTION VISIT HERE.

CAN DEPEND UPON "C"

In Time of Trouble Maryville Section Would Be Among First Called, Officer Declares.

"Battery C is one of the best of the regiment and in time of trouble this battery and Battery D at Boonville would be the ones likely to be called because they could be depended on to function sensibly and in a sane and intelligent way," declared Col. John F. Williams of the 128th Field Artillery who visited the batteries here and at Burlington Junction today. "The headquarters battery at Columbia also is good," he said.

"C Battery is the best firing battery in the regiment but at Fort Riley special emphasis was laid on communication more than firing and that is the reason," he explained, "that Battery C did not win the cup as the ranking battery." The headquarters battery at Columbia won.

Colonel Williams went to Albany this afternoon to inspect the battery there. He has been attending a regimental conference at Omaha, this week.

"This regiment is considered the best in the Missouri National Guard," the Colenel declared.

The officers of Battery C are: Captain, E. V. Condon; first lieutenant, H. F. Lawrence; second lieutenant, Sam H. England; second lieutenant, Harold R. O'Banion.

Correspondence Read in Hall-Mills Case

Daughter of Slain Woman Testifies in Trial of Rector's Wife on Murder Charge.

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 6.—Correspondence of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall was introduced today in the Hall-Mills murder case.

Charlotte Mills, daughter of Mrs. Eleanor Mills, was called to the witness stand to "identify certain papers which I did not have when she testified before," in the words of Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor, who is attempting to convict Mrs. Hall and Henry and Willie Stevens of the murder of the Rev. Edward Hall and Mrs. Mills.

Simpson startled the spectators by offering in evidence a letter written, not by Charlotte's mother, but by Mrs. Hall. The letter discussed family affairs and commented on the way Willie Stevens, Mrs. Hall's eccentric brother, was conducting himself. The letter was to Henry Stevens and read:

"Willie has been incensed at you for not coming up instantly when you heard of my arrest. It was terrific when they took Willie out, but he has been brave and fine, and we are proud of him."

Defense counsel objected to introduction of the letter and charged it had been stolen from the home of Henry Stevens.

BULLETIN.

The county championship in girls' basketball will be fought out between the sextets from Ravenwood and Barnard at 8 o'clock tonight in the Maryville High School gymnasium. Ravenwood downed the Elmo team in a spectacular game this afternoon, 16 to 14.

Eleven boys' teams and five girls' teams responded for the annual Nodaway County Outdoor Basketball Tournament which is being played today at the Maryville High School gymnasium. Drawings for the tourney were made yesterday, and play got under way shortly before 8 o'clock this morning. At press time this afternoon the final game in the second round of the boys' tournament was being played, with three teams yet remaining to contest for places in the final game tonight. One of these three teams will draw a bye and go into the finals and the other two will fight it out for honors.

The last semifinal game in the girls' tourney was completed about 2:30 this afternoon. Final games will be tonight, the girls game being first and the boys' championship tilt following. After the scond game, announcements will be made concerning the players chosen on the mythical all-county teams. These selections are made by the coaches.

Hann and Dubin Referees.

J. R. Hann of Burlington Junction and Sam Dubin of Bedford, Ia., are refereeing the games. These two men have alternated in games today and will work together in the championship contests tonight.

Paul Burks and Orville Hedges, State Teachers College basketball players are the official scorers for the tournament, and Wallace Croy, Maryville High School coach, is timer. Hugh Graham, line coach at the local high school, is floor manager for the tournament.

The preliminary rounds of the tournament showed a number of good teams and several outstanding players. For the girls, Ravenwood was outstanding. Elmo is said to be a strong team, but this sextet won by default this morning and did not have to play in the preliminaries.

For the boys, Pickering and Burlington Junction seemed to have the edge. The Pickering team, which is composed of "Curley" McKee and four others, ran up a 34-6 score on Skidmore without exerting itself overly. Burlington Junction, with the famous K. Jones, demonstrated speed and ability in the game with Ravenwood.

Conception Forfeits.

Conception was billed for the first game of the tournament against Harmony, but failed to show up. Quitman, with a big, rangy team, had little difficulty with Gaynor, winning, 29 to 12.

The big tussle of the morning came when Barnard nosed out Graham by 2 points, 14 to 12. This was a clean, hotly-contested game throughout, and was anybody's until the final whistle.

In the girls' tournament, Ravenwood was better than Burlington Junction, and won 42-19. Elmo won by forfeit from Graham. Skidmore took a default from Guilford, and later lost to Barnard, 35 to 16. In this game, Peoples, guard, was injured in the right shoulder and had to leave the game

Aboard Queen Marie's Train, on the Canadian Border, Nov. 6.—Queen Marie intends to ignore the bickerings aboard her train, which have almost brought about a catastrophe, and to weather the resent disturbances with her dignity and reserve.

Although caught between her loyalty for her friends and her political reasoning, she will make an attempt to smooth out the difficulties by her personality and bring the party happily back to Rumania.

Cincinnati, Ohio.—A demand that the city withdraw its invitation to Queen Marie of Rumania to visit Cincinnati was made in a letter received today by Mayor Murray Seasongood.

The letter, signed by Nicholas Klein, declared, "She is just an international gold digger," and charged that the queen came to America to help float loans for her government.

TAX REBATE IS PROMISED

COOLIDGE TO ASK CONGRESS TO ENACT BILL.

NOT PERMANENT CUT

Credit Of 10 or 12 Per Cent Will Be Given On Next Year's Payment, Says Treasury Officer.

Washington, Nov. 6.—The tax refund proposed by President Coolidge probably will be taken care of by an applicant of by an application of credit on next year's taxes, acting Secretary of the Treasury Winston indicated today.

Cash refunds would cause the government heavy administrative expense, it was pointed out.

Winston emphasized that the proposal for a rebate is not a permenant tax reduction. Treasury officials said a rebate is sound economically, whereas a tax reduction at this time would be unsound.

To Be 10 Or 12 Per Cent.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—Reduction of 10 or 12 per cent on all personal and corporation income taxes being paid this year on incomes for the calendar year 1925 will be recommended by President Coolidge to the coming session of congress, it was announced at the White House yesterday. This proposed action on the part of the administration is based on a treasury surplus from this year's treasury revenues which is estimated to be about 250 million dollars. In spite of the fact that the session of congress beginning in December will be a short one, it is expected that the desired measure can be put through without delay.

The president hopes to have the tax cut enacted into law before December 15, when the final payment on incomes this year will fall due. In the case of taxes which have already been paid in full, it was explained, there will be a refund of the percentage of reduction decided on. A rebate will be given on taxes not yet paid.

Refunds or Rebates.

If congress can put through a resolution in time, the December tax installment will be rebated for all who spread their payments over the four quarters of the present calendar year. Those who paid in full on March 15 or later will receive refunds from the treasury. The rebate or refund is intended for taxes on incomes of the year 1925 for which returns were filed on or before March 15, 1926.

It is not proposed, according to the White House announcement, to seek at the coming session a permanent reduction of taxes all along the line, but simply a flat reduction of from 10 to 12 per cent on all general income taxes.

Wait On Other Figures.

This, it is believed, will be the simple process, which can be embodied in a short bill. Any attempt to frame a new tax bill will be complicated, it is felt, and will require more time than it will be possible to give at the short session to discussion of tax matters.

Furthermore, it was pointed out, figures will not be available for some time showing what may be done in the way of reduction of special classes of taxes.

Secretary Mellon has given his approval to the plan for tax reduction, having gone over the matter carefully with the president. After reviewing the returns for the present year the president has come to the conclusion, it was stated, that conditions have developed to a point which will permit of immediate recommendation to congress after it assembles, to pass the necessary legislation.

Missouri-Oklahoma Tied at End of Half

Norman, Okla., Nov. 6.—Two sensational plays resulted in a touchdown each for the University of Missouri and the University of Oklahoma in the second quarter of their game here today. The half ended 7 to 7.

Missouri scored first, when Flamank, standing on the 45-yard line, instead of kicking, heaved a long pass to Bert Clark on the 5-yard line and Clark dashed on across the goal.

Just as the half ended, Potts, attempting an Oklahoma pass and finding no one open, tucked the ball under his arm and sprinted around end for sixty yards and a touchdown.

LEAGUE ARMS PARLEY FAILS

GENEVA DELEGATES TO LEAVE WITH PROBLEM UNSOLVED.

TWO OPPOSING GROUPS

Conference Is Unable to Reconcile Conflicting Views of Naval and Military Nations.

Geneva, Nov. 6.—Delegates to the League of Nations preparatory conference on disarmament were preparing to leave here tonight, carrying back to their respective governments reports of five months fruitless endeavor to reach an agreement on any vital point discussed.

The sharp lines of cleavage between the groups classed as naval powers on the one side and those listed as military powers on the other, which developed almost at the outset, was never bridged, with the result that the final report, which was adopted as the session came to a close yesterday, merely set forth the widely divergent views of the two opponent groups.

Aligned with the United States on one side were Great Britain, Japan, Argentine and Chile. The other group, headed by France, consisted of Belgium, Italy and other European land powers.

The point upon which the groups were farthest apart was on the question of a basis for naval disarmament, with France insisting upon total tonnage as the basis, while America and Great Britain insisted it should be on classes of vessels.

The purpose of the preparatory conference was to answer seven questions regarding methods of disarmament, to form the program to be followed by the League's dirarmament conference in April.

Immediately they demanded access to McVey's locker and twelve bottles of what the officers said was liquor was taken from it.

Nine First Class Schools Rechecked

Superintendent Somerville And J. C. Godbey Make Rounds Of County This Week.

Nine first class rural schools were rechecked this week by County Superintendent Leslie G. Somerville and J. C. Godbey, state rural and high school inspector, and all of them were recommended for continuance in the first class.

The schools were Mount Tabor, three miles north of Elmo; Cottonwood, three miles east of Elmo; Dawson, three miles northwest of Burlington Junction; Lorain, five miles west of Burlington Junction; Eudora, seven miles southwest of Burlington Junction; Hagey, five miles southwest of Burlington Junction, Star, four miles southeast of Burlington Junction; Pleasant Valley, three miles south of Burlington Junction; and Lafayette, eight miles southeast of Guilford.

The two officials visited Little Brick school, two miles northeast of Burlington Junction, which they checked for continuance as second class; and Lincoln, which they checked for second class approval but found not quite ready. The Lincoln school is five miles southeast of Guilford.

Guilford and Lafayette high schools also were visited and found satisfactory. The Lafayette High School is a rural institution in the extreme southeast corner of the county, eight miles southeast of Guilford.

A number of minor improvements were noted in the various schools, consisting mainly of additions to libraries and retinting of walls.

This and That

"Onward, Upward, Ever Greater," has been selected by the class as the motto of the beginning seniors of the Maryville High School. "Deeds, Not Dreams," was a motto that was considered by the class. The class colors are rose and silver. The flower is the rose.

The markings for cars around the business section of Maryville were repainted this morning by the city.

Brownie Eisenman does not need a gun to catch his rabbits. And he doesn't use salt either. Last night while he was driving along the road a jack rabbit ran in front of the car and was blinded. Some one else in the car took the wheel, Eisenman climbed to the running board and caught the rabbit by the ears.

Hints and Helps for Farmers

by J. Ross Fleetwood County Extension Agent

The special train run by the Wabash Railroad and the Missouri College of Agriculture, which made stops at Burlington Junction and Maryville, was said by many to be the best agricultural train ever through here. The exhibits were selected to show how improvements could be made on any farm. In the soils and crops car exhibits of limestone, fertilizer, legumes, corn, wheat, oats, erosin problems and other problem of soil management were shown. In the Home Convenience car water systems from the simplest to the most elaborate were shown, also lighting systems, power washers, and sewage disposal systems.

The dairy car carried two of the highest producing jerseys and two of the highest producing Holsteins in the college herds. The statement was made that since the first original purchase of four female jerseys and four female holsteins no further purchases of female dairy stuff has been made in these two herds. This is significant for it demonstrates that a high class, high producing herd can be developed from the purchase of one or two good females and the subsequent use of good sires.

Approximately one hundred and fifty people signed up for the home improvement contest. Some very attractive prizes are offered and I hope that Nodaway County will have at least her share of them when the contest is ended.

Union County, Kentucky, has won the distinction of being the first county in the United States to replace the last of its scrub and grade bulls with purebreds. In addition Union County ranks second in the United States, in the number of breeders uone but purebred sires in all their livestock and poultry breeding operations. I think we will have to take our hats off to Union County, but it isn't necessary to keep them off if we will continue the replacement of grade and scrub sires with purebreds. We can equal or surpass their record.

In going over the records of Demonstration poultry flocks in this county for last year, three flocks were found that averaged over $2.25 per hen above feed cost. Some of the other records are not complete in this office and there may be others who have beaten this record. However that may be, I am sure that there are numerous flocks over the county which didn't return anything over feed cost. If your flocks didn't return a fair profit there is something wrong other than the price of eggs. Now is a good time to investigate and start measures to correct the mistakes.

A set of standards showing seeds stained to meet the requirements of the new law regarding foreign seeds is on display in my office. I will be glad to have anyone who buys legume seeds come up and see these standards.

Education Week Is Discussed by Four County School Men

Between games at the basketball tournament this morning four educators of the county expressed their views on Education week. All of them were in absolute harmony with the bill which is to be before Congress on the possibility of having a secretary of education in the President's cabinet.

"Education Week establishes a concrete application of what education stands for."—L. E. Somerville, County Superintendent of Schools.

"Education is the most important single endeavor. Its progress can go as far as the people will have it go. There should be support of the people and that element is essential to the success of school life. A secretary of education in the cabinet of the President is needed badly."—L. L. Livengood, superintendent of schools, Elmo.

"Education Week instills education life. Boys and girls are taken into consideration. It deals with the boys and girls that are above money value."—Ed Adams, superintendent of schools, Barnard.

"The week should be properly observed by all Parent-Teacher's Associations and in the schools. The Elmo school plans to have a speaker from the college next week to speak along educational lines."—Hubert Garrett, superintendent of Schools, Quitman.

Mrs. Edmund Henry Dies Here Yesterday

The American Red Cross Deserves Our Best Cooperation

The Red Cross is a much needed organization. I believe there should be better cooperation from organizations in similar work.—Dr. Jesse Miller, president, Board of Regents, Northwest Missouri State Teachers College.

Maryville Has Case of Scarlet Fever

Maryville has one case of scarlet fever, Arnold Carlson, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Berger, who lives at their home. It is considered a "medium" case, Dr. C. P. Fryer, county health physician, said today. This is the only case in the county, also.

"This is wonderful weather, but if it keeps up we probably shall have many cases of contagious diseases." Doctor Fryer explained that people "go visiting" in good weather and while ones children may all be well, the visitors may have a child who does not feel well. And it may develop later that the child has some contagious disease. The physician gave several instances of disease spreading in this fashion.

At present there is no measles nor whooping cough in this county.

Mrs. McPherson Alleged To Have Insinuated That Mrs. Kimball Was With Ormiston.

Los Angeles, Nov. 6.—A suit for $1,000,000, alleging slander, is being filed in Superior Court here today against Aimee Semple McPherson, according to S. S. Hahn, attorney.

Hahn declared he was taking action against the evangelist in behalf of Mrs. Virla Kimball of Oakland, twin sister of Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman, co-defendant and star witness for the state in the McPherson conspiracy case.

The damages are demanded, it is said on the grounds that Mrs. McPherson sought to give proof at her recent preliminary hearing that Mrs. Kimball, and not the evangelist, occupied a bungalow at Carmel-by-the-Sea last May with Kenneth G. Ormiston, fugitive radio operator.

Mrs. Kimball, according to the attorney, is demanding $500,000 actual and $500,000 punitive damages.

Final Games Are Tonight

Burlington Junction eliminated Ravenwood in the last game this morning, 26-14 and Guilford won over Elmo, 30 to 15. These games completed the first round of the tournament, and left Harmony, Quitman, Barnard, Pickering, Burlington Junction, and Guilford to continue the race for the Nodaway County boys' championship.

Opinion favored Pickering and Burlington Junction to meet in the finals, unless the drawings for the semifinals threw them together in that round. Three teams will have to draw to see which one goes into the finals on a bye.

Vigilant Association Plans for Campaign

A committee has been appointed at Harmony to further the campaign to make that community "solid" for the Vigilant Association. James Flannery is the committee chairman with Elmer Porter, Milton Brown and Lloyd Casteel the other members. It is hoped to make every resident of the community a member of the association.

Plans were made at a meeting of the association held at the Harmony High School last night when Ernest Wray and C. L. Wells talked to workers of the Harmony district.

LA BELLE.

The Hallowe'en party held at the school Friday evening, Oct. 29, was well attended. More than a hundred were present. After the program by the pupils several stunts and contests took place. E. E. Lawson won the prize in the married men's group, which babbed for apples. Esley Freeman won the prize in single men's group for putting the tail on the cat. The married women ate apples from strings and Mrs. Arza Loomis won the prize in this event. The prize in the needle-threading contest for single girls went to Beatrice Lager. After the games lunch was served. Refreshments consisted of pie, hot coffee, pop-corn and apples. All present had a most enjoyable time.

Our school is planning a Thanksgiving program and box supper to be held Nov. 18. You are cordially invited.

Healthville.

Last week our school organized itself into the town of Healthville. Delbert Anderson was elected mayor and four councilmen, Gertrude Lager, Ward Anderson, Wilbert Hawley and Verna Mae Lawson were chosen from the A, B, C, and D classes respectively. The A History class wrote the constitution for our organization. The purpose of the town is to train us for citizenship.

Mrs. John Ball, who has been ill is better.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Lager and daughters, Augusta and Beatrice, attended a sale at New Hampton last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Adwell spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Adwell's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Lawson were visitors at the Roy Hawley home Saturday evening.

The Monroe church is being remodeled. A community Sunday School there would be a fine thing for the community.

Attendance.

Those having perfect attendance and no tardies for the first ten weeks are: Margaret Neale Lawson, Bennie Poe, Chalmer C. Loomis, Mary Ellen Swearingen, Lorene Good, Earl Swearingen, Verna Mae Lawson and Ola Ver Loomis. Four of these pupils are in the second grade.

M. H. S. HOT SHOTS.

The under classmen feel a "thrill that comes once in a life time." The annual staff is going to let them pose for individual pictures in the year book in place of group pictures. The sophomores can "show-off" now.

Jack Gray has acquired some definite knowledge from his class in advanced arithmetic. He's about to say to the author of the text that upon his graduation from school a book will appear under his name—a book that doesn't have stocks and bonds and all of that. Mr. Gray intends to give out no announcements regarding the text until he feels reasonably sure that the faculty is in harmony with his efforts.

The most powerful and influential time to put over an idea to the student body is five minutes on school time. It lends enthusiasm to the students and changes the stroke of the pen when grades are made out.

The student body is glad to learn that Kansas City will have as its guests during the teachers convention, President Coolidge and Queen Marie. They are glad to learn that the faculty wants to see these distinguished guests and rally to the suggestion that they go to Kansas City because something tells them they are to be the "guests" of another vacation.

EXCELSIOR SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 20.

Mrs. Roy Hyder and children, and little Miss Ruth Sparks visited school Friday.

The school began practicing on a Thanksgiving program this week.

Gerald, Eldon, and Virgil Sparks were absent from school Monday.

The seventh and eighth grades had a spelling match last week. They are showing much improvement in spelling.

The pupils are certainly enjoying the Democrat-Forum and Maryville Tribune.

Those having a perfect attendance for the first quarter ar Lynn Ringgold, and Berniece Blanchard. We hope many more name may be published next quarter.

ELMO ITEMS.

The grade cards have been distributed.

Friday night, Oct. 29 a box supper was held at the Salem schoolhouse.

Seventeen members of Dean Barnard's Method class from the State Teachers College, visited the school Wednesday afternoon.

A box supper will be held Friday night, Nov. 5 at the Union Grove school.

The rings ordered by the Senior class have now arrived.

The primary room had a Hallowe'en party Friday afternoon, Oct. 20. The students spent the afternoon making jack-o-lanterns and playing games. A treat of candy was received by each one.

Wednesday evening, Nov. 3, the Burlington Junction sophomore boys basket ball team played the Elmo boys basketball team on the local court. It was a well matched game. Elmo won by a score of 13 to 12.

Both basketball teams attended the tournament at Maryville, today.

The Missouri history class has prepared a play about Daniel Boone which they will dramatize at the Armistice program, November 11.

The civics class has had two debates. One was, "Resolved that one gets better preparation for citizenship out of school than in school." The affirmative won.

The other was, "Resolved, that city homes have more conveniences than country homes." The negative side this time won.

Miss McElvain treated the third and fourth grades to a Hallowe'en party last Friday afternoon. Prizes were won by Junior Miller, Eldon Ray, Cecil Jones, and Loeva Hall.

The freshman class met at the school house at 6:15 Saturday evening, October 30, and went to a grove south of town, where they had a wiener roast. From there they went to the show.

Franklin Receives Pottery Samples From New Mexico

The Sia Indian School of San Ysidro, New Mexico, sent the children of the Franklin School a box of Indian pottery made in their school. There are eleven pieces, all different in shape and design and each made by a different child. The work is beautifully done and it was done by children between the ages of five and nine years.

The fourth grade girls are dressing dolls to send to the Indian children in return. The third grade is making a series of health posters which they expect to send.

MORE HOT SHOTS

Paris Phipps proved himself to be quite the "berries" as a radio announcer in a demonstration given at the Claytonian Society. Mr. Phipps has even gone so far as to offer to give the members a waffle supper if they establish a nation-wide radio announcing contest in which he might enter.

The high school loses its greatest pep orator when Leola Miller graduates. It is suggested that Miss Miller open a class in pep tactics.

Edward Hudson was so diligent a salesman when the Hi-Y sponsored a show at the Missouri Theatre that the Hi-Y in return for his efforts elected him toastmaster of the Father and Son banquet Tuesday night. Ed wonders why "every dog has its day."

Maryville High School Has Eight Pairs Of Twins

The discovery of eight pairs of twins in the high school at Maryville, Mo., has led to the forming of a "Twin Club." Six of the twins are in the senior class which will be graduated next spring. There are four "pairs" of girls, two of boys and two are "mixed."

The senior twins are in the bottom row, all girls. They are, left to right: Nettie and Nellie Russell, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ed F. Russell, near Maryville, born December 7, 1909; Catherine and Florence Wray, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wray, Maryville, born September 17, 1909; and Zela and Zola Colwell, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Colwell, Maryville, born September 11, 1908.

In the middle row, left to right, are: Harold and Helen Busby, children of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Busby, near Maryville, sophomores, born October 27, 1912; Madgel and Marjorie Penisten, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Penisten, Maryville, freshmen, born January 16, 1912; and Wilma and Wilbur Frankum, children of Mr. and Mrs. V. S. Frankum, Maryville, juniors, born October 4, 1910.

GAYNOR ECHOES

We took our quarterly examination Thursday and Friday of last week.

For opening exercises Monday morning we had a Hallowe'en story composed by Melva Freeman; also a report on the new poorhouse at Maryville by Angeline New.

The grade school enjoyed a Hallowe'en party last Friday afternoon. Candy and popcorn were served after everyone had enjoyed a few games.

The Ladies Aid of the M. E. church served dinner and supper at the election Tuesday, clearing about $19.00.

The boys and girls basketball teams went to Sheridan Monday, and each played a game, Sheridan winning both games, the girls score being 26 to 6 and the boys 24 to 9. This was the girl's first game.

A community meeting was held at the high school building last Friday night. Dr. James from Maryville addressed an audience of nearly one hundred. Pie, coffee, sandwiches and pickles were served by the ladies of the community.

PLATOON PLAN RECOMMENDED

TIGERT SUGGESTS MEASURES TO AVOID CONGESTION.

"WORK-STUDY-PLAY"

Under Proposed System All Facilities Would Be in Almost Constant Use.

Washington, Nov. 6.—General adoption of the "work-study-play" or platoon system of school administration was advocated by John J. Tigert, United States Commissioner of Education today in a discussion of the congested school problem in the United States.

"At the present time hundreds of thousands of children are on part time because there are not enough buildings to accommodate them," Tigert pointed out, referring to the problem as one of the most pressing now facing the American public.

He ascribed the present lack of adequate facilities to the cessation of construction during the war, though the building program was ten years behind in 1914. Another ten years was lost due to the war, he estimated. And finally, he pointed out, the extraordinary increase in the number of childen seeking education, as compared to 1890, an increase of 1570 per cent in the case of high school attendance, has aggravated the problem of sufficient facilities.

The solution proposed by Tigert was the general adoption of the platoon plan now in operation in a number of cities by which pupils are rotated through the school's facilities without actual resort to part time teaching.

Under ordinary school administration all pupils are given recesses at once, attend geography classes at once, take manual training at once, and so on through the curriculum, crowding each of the school's facilities in succession while leaving the same facilities totally unused for other hours of the day and week.

Under the platoon system recommended by Tigert pupils would be divided into groups, using the various facilities in rotation so that all facilities would be in almost constant use and the pupils at the same time receiving constant instruction.

HEDGE COLLEGE.

The agriculture class is studying hogs this week. The pupils are planning on making some posters showing the importance of hogs on the farm.

Charles Maier was absent from school Monday on account of illness.

Rebecca Taylor of the C class and Arella Garten of the B class received the prizes for getting the most head marks in speling during the past quarter.

There were no words mis-spelled in the B class and only two words mis-spelled in the C class during the quarter.

Maxine Miller has completed a health poster.

Harod Reed has completed a poster which teaches us we should eat more fruit.

Junior Red Cross Workers Receive Portfolio From Germany

The fifth and sixth grades of Hopkins school have received a portfolio from a school at Stollberger, Germany. It was delivered this week by Mrs. Fern Cull, Junior Red Cross worker of this country. It was well illustrated with pictures and explanations. The German school had received a portfolio by these grades as Junior Red Cross workers from the Hopkins school. Mrs. Bessie Killam is the teacher of the grades receiving the portfolio.

The third, fourth and fifth grades at Conception Junction, Mrs. Myrl Gorman, teacher, have sent a portfolio to the 3A grade of the Scuola Elementare Civita, Castellane, Rome.

The Engle school in Worth County, Mrs. Cleo Ellis, teacher, has sent a portfolio to Tirlemont, Belgium, in return for one received from there August 28.

Here is a copy of the letter received with the portfolio from Germany:

Stillberger, 1-Erzg. 30-IV, 1926.

Dear friends in this far off land:

We received your beautiful portfolio a few days before the Easter holidays. The idea of the Junior Red Cross was long ago familiar to us, though we did not call ourselves Junior Red Cross group. When your portfolio arrived we decided to organize ourselves immediately. Our whole class with the head teacher, Mr. Thurigen, formed one group without any exception, and every Monday afternoon we assemble in our classroom. We have learnt already much about the American and Canadian Junior Red Cross as Mr. Thurigen receives regularly your magazine. We are quite delighted to possess our own Junior Red Cross in our country since 1926, and to be one of the first Austrian Junior Red Cross groups.

I am sorry to have kept you in waiting so long. We are looking forward to further exchange with you. We learn assiduously English and can read almost everything without translation. Mr. Thurigen tells us what we do not know. We are sending you our portfolio which will make you acquainted with our country and with us. We had exhibited for some time your map and in our school room and it has been photographed. You can see also our group and pictures from our school. Where on earth you could find Stollberg, that the maps and descriptions will show you. We should like to know your names.

Your health rules in the February number are hanging on a [illegible] board in our classroom. We like to keep the latter clean and brighten it up with flowers. We have many plans. Mr. Thurigen is translating the play, "The Argument in the Kitchen," which appears in your Canadian magaizne for the parents evening. 160 children are reading now the Austrian magazine in our town.

Our sincere wish is to give you a picture of our school and country with our portfolio. Perhaps it will be possible some day to exchange a portfolio with games and toys, and another time books and games which are not too expensive but which we could read and play, for example, quartett-games, multiplication games with verses, picture books with rhymes as our little brothers and sisters have them, traveling games. We should like to have once a game-and-conversation evening in English.

We extend you the hand of friend ship,

YOUR STOLLBERGER.

CLASS WORK PAYS STUDENT

GEORGE HEPBURN EARNS WHILE HE LEARNS.

PORK PROJECT USED

Crop Of Corn Produced By The Boy Yields 50 Bushels Per Acre.

George Hepburn, a student in Maryville High School, has an interesting record in Vocational Agricultural work. During his freshman year, George did project work in Vocational Agriculture, taking a Pork Production Project in which he used two Purebred Poland China Sows. Both litters produced were ton litters at the age of 180 days. Twenty-two pigs were successfully reared and averaged 199 2-5 lbs. at St. Joseph, where they topped the market at $11.05.

The cost of production, including feed cost, labor cost, interest on investment and depreciation on equipment was $263.02. Did George make a profit? Figure it out.

George has, this past year, done project work with 13 acres of corn which he says will make an average of 50 bushels per acre. At present he is taking third year Vocational Agriculture, and intends to feed the corn produced in his last project to his hogs, which he will use for his third year project.

Paying tuition has been easy for George, as he believes in earning while learning. "Our boys of today are our farmers of tomorrow, best wishes to them," says Elmer R. Coats, instructor in vocational agriculture, at the high school.

BLOOMFIELD SCHOOL.

The agriculture class took a field trip last Tuesday to the farm of Thomas McClurg for the purpose of studying hogs. Both lard and bacon types were studied.

We have some new playground material and some more ordered as a result of our box supper the other night.

We also have some new records for our phonograph.

Leroy Morrow visited school Wednesday.

Iven McClurg and Eddie Carmichael were absent from school this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McClurg are visiting relatives in Lenox and Creston this week-end.

We are making plans for a community meeting in the near future. The school children will put on the program for the entertainment.

Corn shucking is almost in full swing in this community.

Essays on "Why I Am A Girl Scout" Which Won Second and Third Prize

WHY I AM A GIRL SCOUT
By Eleanor Stanfield

There are several general reasons why I am a Girl Scout. As far back as I can remember I have heard of Scout work and always in a favorable way. When I was a little baby my father was assistant scoutmaster to a group of Boy Scouts and both of my brothers have been Boy Scouts. So I have in a way grown up in a Scout atmosphere. I have read quite a lot about the Girl Scouts, so when it was announced through the Democrat-Forum, that there would be a meeting of girls to organize a Girl Scout troop here in Maryville, I was on hand at the appointed time and place.

As to the particular reasons for my being a Girl Scout they are summed up in 1st the motto of the Girl Scouts is "Be Prepared." I want to be prepared to meet whatever may come in the right way.

2nd, the slogan of the Girl Scouts which is, "Do a good turn daily."—I think everybody would be much happier if they would do somebody an act of kindness every day.

3rd, the pledge which reads, "I will pledge allegiance, to my flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands; one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all," rightly considered and observed is sure to make us all better citizens and it is said, "the very existance of our country depends on our enlightenment and just citizenship."

4th, the promise which is, "On my honor I will try to do my duty to God and my country. To help other people at all times. To obey the Scout Laws." Each girl must voluntarily make the promise. What we voluntarily agree on our honor to do we will not go back on if we can help it. It is easier to do the things we ought if we know others are doing them than it is if our friends are doing things we might like to do but must not if we are good Scouts.

The laws of the Girl Scouts help us to be and do the things we should be and do. A great deal might be said about the Girl Scout Laws. I am a Girl Scout because I want to live up to those Laws as nearly as I can. The laws are as follows:

I. A Girl Scout's Honor is to be trusted.

II. A Girl Scout is Loyal.

III. A Girl Scout's duty is to be useful and to help others.

IV. A Girl Scout is a friend to all and a sister to every other Girl Scout.

V. A Girl Scout is Courteous.

VI. A Girl Scout is a friend to animals.

VII. A Girl Scout obeys orders.

VIII. A Girl Scout is cheerful.

IX. A Girl Scout is thrifty.

X. A Girl Scout is Clean in Thought, Word and Deed.

A girl who knows the Scout Laws and lives up to them will surely grow up to be a splendid woman. That is what I hope to be some day. For all these reasons I am a Girl Scout. It is going to be "some job" to be a good Girl Scout but I am going to do my best to be one.

WHY I AM A GIRL SCOUT
By Ruth Kramer.

"Just why are you a Girl Scout?" That is a question that has been asked me many times. At first it was hard for me to answer this because I did not know all the things Scouts do. Now I do know.

The Girl Scouts is an international organization. There are Girl Scouts from coast to coast and from ocean to ocean. It's fun to know you belong to that group of girls in far away Japan or France, and when a troop of girls go by on an all-day hike it's fun to know you belong with them.

What do we do on our hikes? Ah, this is one of the big reasons we all like to belong. Can you tell the different kinds of trees in the woods? We learn that. Can you tell a poison mushroom from an edible one? We can. Do you know what woods burn the hottest and the longest? We do. If you don't know these things, don't you wish you did? We know all these things and many more about the woods. Everytime we go on a hike, we learn something new.

Then there are our Merit Badges. For instance, the First Aid. Do you know how to bandage a sprained ankle? A good scout does. Would you know what to do in case of an accident, a broken arm, or a person badly burned? A Girl Scout must know what to do. It is her duty to be able to help other people at all times. When we learn all these things, is it any wonder we like to be Girl Scouts? Wouldn't you like to be one your self?

When I grow older, I hope people will say about me, "There goes an ideal Girl Scout." I hope I can go out into and remember my scout motto, promise and laws.

Melva Freeman, Student at Gaynor, Writes Hollowe'en Story

The following story was written by Melva Freeman, eighth grade student at the Gaynor School for a Hallowe'en program held at the school.

HALLOWE'EN.
By Melva Freeman.

"What's that," said John Lee to his companion Joe Burch.

"Oh it is just a black cat," said Joe.

"I thought it was a witch," whispered John.

"Ha! Ha! scared already," said Joe. "You'll have to be braver than that if you go in that haunted house."

"Don't think I'll go in," said John.

"Coward," cried Joe.

The rest of the way neither spoke. They walked slowly down the dark road imagining they saw witches, bats, ghosts, goblins, black cats and everything else that would make them feel like running and hiding but each hated to have the other call him a "fraidy cat." Every few moments the moon would jump out from under a cloud and scare them.

At last they came in sight of the dreadful haunted house. John groaned and Joe was so frightened that he could hardly walk without his knees bumping together. Nearer and nearer they came to the horrid house and the boys became more and more frightened. At last they were at the door of the haunted house. Witches, ghosts, bats, black cats and goblins were all around them. A ghost put its cold fingers on each of the boys' hot cheeks.

John and Joe stood there each afraid to open the door.

After a long pause John got his trembling hand to the door and just then the wind came whisteling around the corners of the building. It was saying in a dreary tone.

You better be careful what you're about
If you go in that house you'll never come out.

This made the hair stand straight up on John's and Joe's heads.

Then squeak went the door. John had pushed on the latch too hard and the door flew open.

Both boys walked in the house neither noticeing what they were doing.

On and on they went neither speaking. They passed from one room to another and finally came to the stairway door.

Just as Joe's trembling hand started to reach for the doorknob the door flew open and a gust of wind came rushing down the stairs.

This only helped to frighten the boys but they went on up the stairs and at last reached the top and entered the dark room.

John and Joe could see the fire fly from the black cats' backs and goblins ghosts and witches filled the room with a murmuring sound. It semed to the boys as if they were making their plans of how to kill them.

Suddenly the murmuring stopped and the boys heard a gruff voice say, "I am coming up to get you." Then the voice sair "I am on the first step; I am on the second step; I am on the third step," and so on until it said, "I am on the top step; I am opening the door." Then a ghost stepped into the room.

"John," cried Mrs. Lee, "This is the sixth time I've called you this morning and you better get up."

"That was a horrid dream I had, but I wish that ghost had got us so I would not have to get up and go to school," said John.

Fourth Grade At Franklin Enjoys Trip Around World

The fourth grade of the Franklin school is taking a very interestfng trip this semester. They left Maryville on September 21 on the Wabash. One day was spent at Niagara Falls and another in New York City. Then they crossed the Atlantic on the ship New Amsterdam. By means of pictures they did all of the things both on the train and on the ship that you would do when traveling.

They are gaing to visit one of each type of country—the jungle, the dry desert, the cold desert, the lowlands, the mountainous type, and the island and agricultural type.

At present they are in Japan, where they are making a study of both the island and agricultural conditions. They are living with the Japanese boys and girls—eating with them; playing their games, enjoying their holidays, etc. They are watching especially to see what determines how the people solve the problems of food, clothing and shelter. Their headquarters while in Japan are the Imperial Hotel of Tokyo.

After spending several weeks in Japan the children will give a dramatization showing the manner of living there. The girls are dressing Japanese dolls and the boys are making chopsticks. A diary is kept showing what is seen each day. This is illustrated with pictures.

The trip is being taken by means of books, pictures and talks by people who have visited these countries. Accompanying the children on the trip are Miss Frances Garnett, who has charge of the sight seeing; and Miss Eva Hatfield, who has charge of the dramatization.

Campus Rebels

AIEA FICTION ©1926 N.E.A. SERVICE INC.

by Virginia Swain

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

JUDITH MARTIN, young, red-haired, beautiful, arriving to teach in Pendleton University meets an earnest man who rescues her bandbox on the train, but refuses to enter into conversation with her.

As she steps from the train at Pendleton station, a strange young man giant, green-eyed, seizes her, kisses her and without a word thrusts her into a taxi and vanishes.

She meets black-haired MYRA ALDRICH in her boarding house. Myra is violently in love with one ERIC WALTERS.

Judith avoids the kisser on the campus and in faculty meeting, makes the acquaintance of Dr. Peter Dorn, astronomy professor, who as a stranger had helped her with her hatbox on the train.

In a tea shop with Judith, Myra hears that Watters has kissed a girl at the station, on a bet. She rushes home, followed by Judith, and has a fit of tears.

Learning from the college catalog that Judith is a teacher, Myra goes into a tantrum, accusing Judith of deceiving her into making confidences.

Eric unknowingly signs up Judith's Latin class.

He climbs to Judith's window one night to ask her to unlock the door for Myra and is seen descending by a man passing the house.

Will Wetherel asks her to go to a party given by Eve Gerhart, a fascinating widow, and she accepts.

Eric is dumbfounded when he walks into Horace class for the first time to find her teaching it.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER VII.

The class was watching curiously. Twice Eric shot a perplexed look at Judith, but her face was bent over her book in professional concentration.

Outside, the pigeons chattered on the window edge. . . . .

A telephone call to the dressmaker in Randall City next day elicited the information that the evening dress had been duly mailed and should reach Judith on the last parcel post delivery before the party.

Following the dressmaker's instructions, Judith rushed down to the college drugstore after her three o'clock class, and came out with a small package which she thrust into her pocket, just as Dr. Dorn rounded the corner and came face to face with her.

"If you'll wait a moment while I buy some pipe tobacco, we can walk back to the campus together." Judith nodded and walked slowly until he caught up, with her again.

Dr. Dorn might have seen trouble ahead if he had looked at Judith's eyes. It was not long in coming.

"Pipe tobacco!" she said, in mock horror, "I supposed you were a man of no vices."

For a second, the man was taken aback. Then he looked at her with cool, smiling eyes. "And where may I ask, did you get that mistaken notion?" Then, before she could reply, he went on. "To be sure, your friend Wetherel must have given me a good send-off at lunch yesterday. I must confess that I heard my name mentioned. When you came out of the booth with him, I could scarcely believe my eyes."

"Why?" asked Judith, somewhat sharply.

"Because young Wetherel doesn't spend much time laughing over luncheon tables with members of the faculty," he replied.

Judith looked angry for a moment, then burst out laughing. "It is rather funny. You see he doesn't know I teach Horace. I'm wondering how long I can get by as a student."

Dr. Dorn looked at her searchingly. "Perhaps," he said, after a momentary pause, "your chief concern should be to 'get by' as a teacher. Please excuse me for preaching, Miss Martin. But you may not know that conditions for faculty members at Pendleton are very strict. The dean is especially watchful of the younger teachers, until he is sure of them."

Judith laughed scornfully. "Sure of their toadying and imitating and cringing before him!"

With this farewell shot, she turned away from him and walked briskly toward home.

The pile of parcel post at foot of the Stedway staircase had diminished to five laundry cases when Judith entered. Three of them, belonging to freshmen, were white and new, but the other two bore the grime and rents of several years' collegiate service.

Judith turned them over eagerly, but there was no dressmaker's box hidden beneath. She went upstairs slowly and entered her room. The closet door stood open, revealing only plainly tailored dresses, most of them designed for classroom wear. She sat down on the bed and stared at them woefully.

She was still sitting there when Myra burst in, throwing her books on the table and spinning around on one toe. "Guess where I'm going tonight! Eric asked me."

"Probably to the Gerhart party," answered Judith calmly.

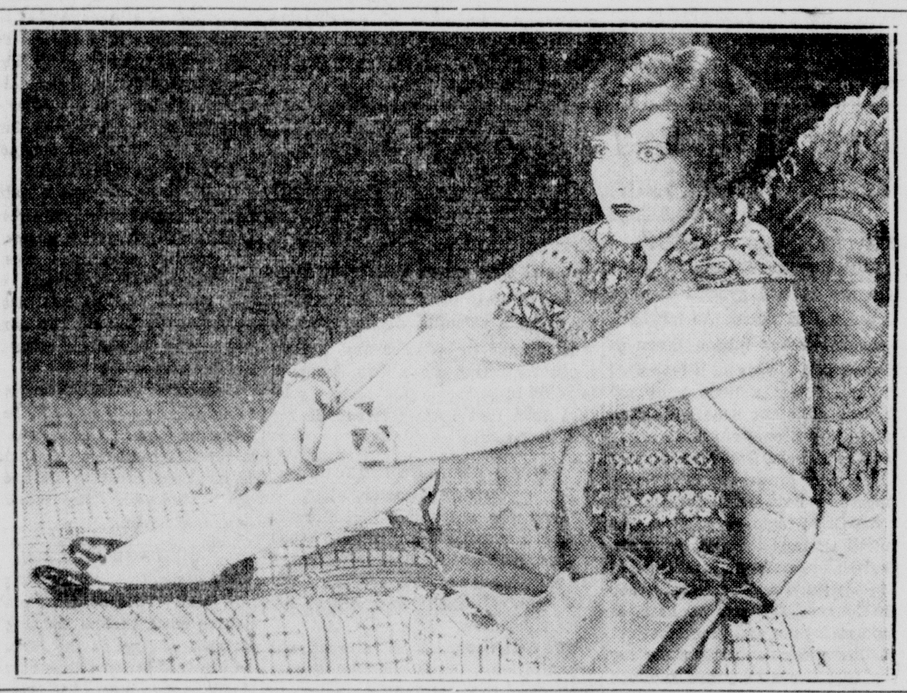
Myra stared. "Why, how did you know about it?"

Judith was looking out the window. "Because I am going too," she said absently. She heard Myra's quick intake of breath, but the girl evidently remembered her manners and suppressed her surprise.

"How nice," she said conventionally. "Is that baggy-kneed professor man taking you?"

Judith walked casually toward the closet. "No. Will Wetherel asked me." She hummed a little tune.

Myra sat down heavily on the bed.



"WILL WETHEREL! Why, he's a cake eater—nothing more or less. WILL WETHEREL!" Then, seeing Judith's face, she hastened to explain, "I don't mean anything uncomplimentary, of course. It's easy to see why any man would want to take a stunning red-head like you to a party. But—well, it IS rather a queer combination, Will Wetherel with a Schoolteacher."

There was a rather cold silence as Judith pushed the clothes hangers along the closet pole and surveyed each dress as it passed. "What are you going to wear?" Myra asked at last.

Judith sighed. "That's just the question. My new evening dress did not arrive today as per schedule, and I haven't another thing festive enough to go with Will Wetherel's tuxedo. He admits he's a knock-out in evening dress."

At the last words, Myra had dashed out of the room, and in a moment was back again. She threw four dresses on the bed. "There!" she cried. "Take your choice."

She began to pull a gown of silver cloth over Judith's protesting head, and stepped back to look at her. Judith glanced at herself in the glass. The silver made a foil for the brilliancy of her hair, and the suave lines of the dress gave her figure a new grace.

"I can't ressist it, Myra, it's too flattering."

Myra kissed her. "It's marvelous. Nobody'd ever suspect you were a teacher. We won't tell Eric or Will that you teach. Wait till I get my jade fan for you." She ran away again, leaving Judith with a sphinx-like smile on her face.

Eve Gerhart's English cottage was the last house on Granville road before it struck out into open country. Its triangular lawn, outlined by hawthorn hedges and dotted with clumps of shrubbery foreign to that part of the country, marked it as the dwelling place of a personality alien to the red-brick orthodoxy of Pendleton.

From their taxi, Wetherel and Judith could see the rosy windows of the house for some distance down the road.

"Great blow-out," said Will, lounging against the cushions with a cigaret in his hand. "Eve's harvest home is the one real social event of the fall term—not in the sense of lavish entertainment, but as a chance for civilized human contact—open discussion, informality and all that. "Eve always sends invitations to a few select members of the faculty—notably the ones who wouldn't darken her doors to save their lives. She has a droll sense of humor, Eve has."

"What is it they object to in her?" asked Judith.

"Plenty. First of all, she has never been seen at church. Second, she wears Italian silk underwear. The lingerie saleswoman at Kearney's store has spread that information around. Third, the town gossips can't find out where her money comes from, or who Mr. Gerhart was or whether he was.

"And fourth, too many of the campus lions are fond of her. No doubt Eric Waters will be the next favorite at court. I believe I was the last." His voice was complacent.

"Mmm," said Judith. "I see. And is she fond of the campus lions, in her turn?"

Wetherel shrugged. "Not much. Eve would give me her last dollar or the cloisonne vase from her mantel, if I wanted it. But she wouldn't give me a kiss to save my soul from damnation. So I guess she's cold enough."

"I suppose that conclusion does follow," said Judith drily, looking at him sidewise in the darkness.

"Oh, I say now," the boy began. But the taxi was careening into the Gerhart drive and narrowly missed a stripped roadster standing by the side door.

"That's Eric's car," said Wetherel. "He and Myra must have come early."

A white-capped maid opened the door for them and Judith caught a glimpse of a long, low-ceilinged room full of gay, moving figures and soft laughter. The only face that she recognized was Myra's, in the center of a group near the fireplace. Judith saw that Myra was wearing brilliant red and that she was flushed and merry.

The maid took Judith upstairs, where she removed her wraps and added a touch of rouge to her cheeks already beginning to glow with excitement. At the top of the stairs she stopped a moment and took a long breath. Then she glanced down at the long, gleaming lines of her miraculous dress and laughed a little laugh of sheer happiness.

When she came down the steps, Eric, Will and Myra were standing near the newel post. They raised their heads simultaneously, and Judith looked straight into Eric's eyes.

Wetherel's voice broke the silence. "Well, for cryin' out loud, why didn't somebody tip me off? Thought I was bringing an ordinary mortal to the party and she turns out to be the Queen of Sheba. For cryin' out loud!"

A little ripple of laughter ran around the room. Judith reddened and turned away from Eric's gaze. Then she saw that Myra was staring at Eric, with a strange look of fear in her eyes.

Wetherel seized Judith's arm and led her down the long room. She was conscious of admiring glances from the groups of men and girls that they passed. They found their hostess lying against the velvet cushions of a deep divan in front of the fire. She was talking to a man seated beside her, whose face they could not see.

Eve lifted a welcoming hand lazily to Judith, but did not rise from her cushions. The man beside her turned around. "This is Dr. Dorn, my old time friend," said Mrs. Gerhart. "He seldom comes to my parties, but tonight he has seen fit to honor us." Her words seemed serious enough, but there was a mocking twinkle in her eyes.

Judith smiled at Dr. Dorn, and Eve watched her closely for a moment, but turned away as Eric and Myra joined the group.

"This seems to be a gathering of your staunchest admirers, Miss Martin," said Eve. "I heard your praises first from Will, second from Eric, and now from Dr. Peter Dorn, who thinks you rather a remarkable specimen of the genus Latin teacher."

"From Eric?" repeated Myra. "Eric's never met her."

"Latin teacher?" repeated Will, turning a bewildered face toward Judith.

Eric tugged at her sleeve. "Please come into the sun room. I've simpy got to talk to you." Judith found herself walking away with him.

Dr. Dorn said nothing at all. Eve's smile mocked him.

Myra learns about the kiss between Eric and Judith in the next chapter, and Judith learns something of the fury of a jealous girl.

TEACH CHILDREN TO BREATHE DEEPLY

The Posture Is Benefited, Thereby Basically Improving the Health, When the Lung Capacity Is Adequate to Blood's Needs.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator From New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Not so long ago a New York State lady wrote me for ideas regarding health demonstrations she is to conduct for the benefit of country children. She appeared to be particularly interested in correct posture.

DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

I suggested that she point out the importance of deep breathing. If there is one thing more than another which to my mind deserves the attention of all persons interested in the physical well-being of the race, it is deep breathing.

When you see a lot of children in bathing it is amazing what a large proportion of them have hollow chests, prominent collar bones, narrow shoulders, and other evidences of deficient lung development. One of the reasons why so many girls have the outrageous figures they possess, is because they haven't enough body development to give them form.

A measure I recommend to develop lung capacity is a blowing exercise. Have the child stand in front of a lace curtain or a piece of paper suspended in a doorway, and ask him to blow at the object. He does this until he sees it wave in the air.

Of course it is not the blowing that does the good, but in order to blow he must fill the lungs with air. When you try this with a large number of persons you will be surprised how many of them just give a little puff and regard that as blowing. A well-developed pair of lungs, at a distance of nine or ten feet, will cause a lace curtain to move.

To teach the children to stand correctly and to breathe correctly will do much to improve their nourishment and their general well-being. Food cannot digest without oxygen, and there can't be a sufficient supply of oxygen without deep breathing.

A person can take off weight by reducing his food intake, but he cannot go far toward putting on weight by increasing the food intake. It is necessary not alone to increase the food intake, but also to increase the supply of oxygen. Almost always you will find that the skinny, undernourished child is a child who does not breathe as he should.

Every child should be taught the first principles of food knowledge. He should know what to eat and why particular foods are necessary to furnish a balanced diet.

As I have observed children, particularly in the country, it seems to me they are too generously dressed. They wear too much clothing, but no child can appear well dressed unless correct posture is added to the possession of good clothes.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

Mrs. D. V. C. Q.—What is a cure for mental depression?

A.—Recreation and diversion will help a great deal. Try to get your mind off of yourself. Go out in the fresh air as much as possible and give careful attention to the health in general.

M. P. Q.—Can a goitre in the early stages be cured? What are the symptoms?

A.—Yes, in some instances. Nervousness, palpitation, swelling of the throat are all indications of a goitre. If the trouble is suspected the doctor should be consulted—since each case requires specific treatment.

E. C. Q.—What should a girl of nearly 17, 5 ft. 4 in. tall weigh?

2.—What will reduce the ankles and calves of the legs?

A.—She should weigh about 125 pounds.

2.—Exercise should bring about results. Walking, dancing, climbing, running, etc., are all beneficial.

Q.—What will remove a large brown wart on the lower eyelid—which seems to be growing larger?

A.—You should see your doctor and be guided by his judgment in the matter. It is never wise to attempt to treat a growth of any kind, much less so near the eye, without careful medical supervision.

A. B. Q.— Is there any cure for a simple goitre? Would iodine help?

A.—Yes, but the treatment should be advised after careful examination, since each case demands specific attention. It might, but should only be taken under the direction of your doctor.

The Wednesday letter failed to materialize for some reason or another. It may have been lost in transit, or it might have been because of an over production of post-election news. However it went out from my office on schedule time, but failed to appear. It may yet show up.

The Annual Bazaar put on by the Industrial Society of the Methodist Church, has for its date November 20. In connection with the bazaar, both dinner and supper will be served to the general public. A very large patronage is expected.

The play entitled "The Minister's Wife's New Bonnet," put on with local talent by the Christian Church, was well attended and very satisfactory. They, both on Wednesday and Thursday nights. Many favorable comments concerning it.

Homer Carmichael has been elected superintendent of the Sunday school at a recent meeting of the Sunday school board. For the past eight months, Rev. A. L. Ragsdale, the pastor has been acting superintendent, but his work increased until he found he was carrying too heavy a load, and Mr. Carmichael relieved him of a part of his burden.

Mrs. William Sprague, left for Shenandoah, Ia., last Thursday afternoon, where she was met by her brother, Forest Brown, and they together then went to Dunning, Neb., to visit another brother, A. F. Brown for a few days. They will be gone over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ramey Hann are driving a new Ford coupe car. It is the latest model and a thing of beauty. They disposed of their old car in the trade.

Mrs. S. C. Taylor, who has been confined to her room and bed, for a period of more than a year, seems to be growing weaker, daily. She cannot now sit up, because of physical weakness, and the outlook for convalescence is very poor. At her advanced age, the family is not holding out any hope for improvement.

There will be no services at the Christian church on Sunday night, owing to the pastor being engaged in a series of special meetings at Workman Chapel. He is planning to close his meetings there on Sunday night.

An Armistice day service will be held in the Methodist church, Sunday night, Nov. 14. This will be a Union service, and the program will be put on entirely by local talent. The music will be in charge of Mrs. Vern Caldwell, and her splendid chorus of twenty trained voices, and short addresses will be made by John Greeley, Rev. A. L. Ragsdale, and J. Howard Thompson. The general public is urged to attend.

Hallowe'en parties were more popular this year than for many preceding years. Every organization, and every Sunday school class, seemed to have given those interested a party of one kind or another. Many beautiful masques were seen at the various gatherings for fun.

Rev. J. Howard Thompson was called to the Frank McNeal home six miles southeast of Graham to conduct the funeral of Mrs. McNeal, mother of Frank, Roy and James. Mr. Thompson was an old time friend of the family, having been their pastor, while at Graham a number of years ago.

Farmers in these parts are busy these days husking corn. The crop seems to be disappointing in many places. The excessive wet weather of September and October has caused much of it to mould, and become unfit either for market, or feeding. We found one farmer who was carefully taking care of all spoiled ears and using it for fuel. It makes a very warm fire and is a matter of economy.

Henry Rutherford, salesman for the Woods Brothers Thresher Company, of Des Moines, Ia., who has just recently returned from North Dakota, and Canade, with headquarters in Fargo, N. Dak., received word from his firm to make ready at once to go to Argentine, Uruguay, South America, to look after their interests there. He will leave about the first of December. He was in South America about a year ago for his firm. He will have a great experience out of this trip.

The Young Married People's Club held its regular weekly meeting with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fordyce. All members of the club were present, and had a very enjoyable time. Refreshments were served.

The Order of Eastern Star Club was very royally entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Browning, on Monday night. A goodly number were present and much fun provoked. At the close of the entertainment, refreshments of angel food cake, fruit salad and cocoa with whipped cream was served.

Mrs. W. N. Houston is home again. She returned early in the week from St. Joseph, where she had been for a few days helping care for her daughter, Mrs. E. F. Scott of Maryville, who was in the Missouri Methodist Hospital, as a result of a surgical operation. Mrs. Scott is improving nicely and soon will be able to return to her home and family.

Dr. W. M. Hindman has returned from Rochester, Minn., where he had gone a few days ago with a patient, Mrs. Elmer Matlock, of Clearmont. Mrs. Matlock will remain for a time longer and go through the Clinic at the Mayo Brothers Hospital, of Rochester.

R. R. Staples is in Worth County, looking after the interests of his farm over in that section, and assisting his men over there put up some new corn cribs, to take care of the new crop that is being harvested at this time.

Henry Cook of Oregon, the tomb-stone man was in town earlier in the week looking after his business interests. He maintains a business in Oregon, Mound City and Tarkio. He has done a large volume of business in Nodaway County.

R. Dollison and his daughter, Mary have been host and hostess to Mrs. Ernest Wolbran and son of Lincoln, Neb., Mrs. Philip Graves of Custer, Okla. The visitors were here early in the week, and remained but a few days. Mrs. Graves is a sister of Mr. Dollison.

Mrs. Emily King of Minneapolis, Minn., who has been here for a number of weeks visiting Mrs. John Dragoo, returned to her home Friday morning of this week. She is a former resident of Burlington Junction, and has many friends in the town and country round about. Prior to her leaving for her home, she was entertained at dinner by Mrs. Hannah Staples. Other guests present at the dinner were Mrs. John Dragoo, Mrs. M. A. Gaugh, Mrs. Florence Smith, and Mrs. John Fox.

Mrs. Lester Staples spent last week in Des Moines, Ia., visiting relatives and friends. Lester drove to Des Moines Friday morning, where, with his wife, spent the day Saturday visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Pitkin and family. They returned home Sunday.

Edwin Caldwell, returned this week from St. Joseph, where he had been in consultation with a doctor, very much improved in health. With a little patience and care he will soon be his normal self again, which will be good news to his many friends.

Miss Annie Walker has been a guest since Tuesday with Miss Marie Faust, seven miles southwest of town, on the Edwin Caldwell farm. She will return to her home here today, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bush went to Cameron, Wednesday morning to visit a brother of Mrs. Bush, T. J. Maier. After a short visit at the Maier home they will go to St. Joseph, where they will visit L. L. Maier, another brother. They will be absent from town about four days.

James Hepley of Kirby, Oregon, is here a guest of his sister, Mrs. R. R. Staples, ten miles west of town. He will visit at the Staples' home about three weeks, then go on to New Mexico for the winter. He formerly lived in Maryville. Since having left Nodaway County a little more than a year ago, he has seen much of the American continent. He has spent some time in Fairbanks, Alaska, and also visited Skagua then came to Vancouver, British Columbia, where he remained for a number of months, then on down to Kirby, Oregon, which has been his recent home. He has had a most wonderful experience in travel and observation, and says it is a veritable education within itself.

Mrs. J. G. House, has been entertaining Mrs. Ernest Shutt, and her two daughters, the Misses Dorothy and Mary, all of Kansas City, Mo. Mrs. Shutt and Mrs. House are sisters.

The Burlington Junction Post is making a specialty of the Rural School News this year which is a very fine thing, I think. Nodaway township has a splendid corps of rural school teachers at the head of the various schools in the township.

The impassable mud holes here and there in the low places and bottom roads are being traveled. There are some rough places, but all are passable.

Sam Jones, and Fletcher Dalby, the two members of the recent grand jury are home again, their duties as grand jurors having been finished on Friday of this week. There were no true bills reported.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Traders jockeyed wheat through about the same course as yesterday, on the Chicago Board of Trade today. Opening below yesterday's quotations and after early bearish movements it staged a slight rally but did not regain all losses.

Wheat closed ⅜ to ¼ cent lower but prices were 1 cent up.

Corn, although advancing with wheat during the day, slipped again at the close. It closed ½ to ¾ cent off. Cash prices declined 1 cent, as continued heavy receipts were reported.

Oats maintained its customary calm, the market closing ¼ cent lower. Spot prices were steady.

SPORTS

BEARCATS HIT THEIR STRIDE

AFTER SLOW START, THEY DOWN ST. BENEDICTS, 27-0.

A WHIRLWIND FINISH

Attack in Waning Minutes of Game Yields Three Touchdowns—First on Intercepted Pass.

Although the State Teachers College Bearcats did not get off to such an auspicious start in their game here yesterday with the St. Benedicts College eleven of Atchison, Kan., they hit a fierce stride in the last twenty minutes of the contest and romped through to a one-sided victory, 27 to 0.

In the last quarter of the game and in the last half of the third quarter, Maryville fans were treated to a "jim dandy" exhibition of sport a la gridiron, and in those waning minutes of the game, three touchdowns were ripped off in surprising fashion.

The first quarter of the game was scoreless. In the second perior "Ikey" Eads, Bearcat captain and left halfback, intercepted a pass on his 40-yard line and made a beautiful 60 yard dash down the sideline for a touchdown. This ended the scoring until the beginning of the fourth quarter.

Touchdown Honors Shared.

Search, Willoughby and Lewis contributed 6 points each via the touchdown route, Captain Eads added two extra points, and "Bun" O'Banion was responsible for the additional point after touchdown.

Willoughby's touchdown came when he skirted left end for a mad dash of 30 yards. Search scored via the hop-up-and-step-over route. With but 2 yards to go, this be-mustached halfback literally stepped on and over the St. Benedicts' line to fall on the other side of the goal.

Lewis, who played at fullback in the last part of the game, just tucked the ball under his arm, let about seven Irishmen get firm hold on him, and then bowled over the line by pure strength, awkwardness, and determination to make the distance. This was Lewis' first game in the backfield. He is a tackle who burdens the scales for about 210 pounds. The Maryville coaches have possibly found a back who will be of use to them. And he's just a sophomore.

Hartman at tackle was an outstanding line player. He worked well in all departments of the game. Search played well, as did Willoughby, and O'Banion. In fact, they all played well—after they got to playing.

A Star With One Arm.

Morney, captain of the St. Benedicts team, was the outstanding Irishman. The fact that this player has but one arm did not handicap him in yesterday's game. He was noticable in all parts of the game.

Guy Lookabaugh of Kansas University, who refereed the game, might have been a little more wide awake. Or perhaps he has not refereed so much. Robertson, the umpire, and Sammy Utz, the head linesman, were O. K., in all respects.

The St. Benedicts team arrived in Maryville yesterday at noon and left after a hasty meal shortly after the game. The return trip was made by bus.

Conception College Wins From Bethany

Conception College won a hard fought football game from Bethany Junior College yesterday afternoon by a score of 7-0. The result bears out the contention of the Conception team's supporters than an earlier game between the two teams, which Bethany won, 14-0, was more or less "fluky."

The Conception victory was well earned. Only once did the Bethany gridders penetrate as far as the Conception 20-yard line. This advance was made in the first quarter, the visitors never again threatening.

The lone touchdown came in near the end of the last period, after the ball had been placed on the 5-yard line on runs alternately around left and right end. Carland, fullback, carried the ball over on a line smash through center. Mench's dropkick for the extra point was good.

Conception still has an open date for November.

WARRENSBURG IN 1ST PLACE

MULES HAVE KICK TO DEFEAT KIRKSVILLE, 19-12.

PASSES RESPONSIBLE

Both Teams Use Aerial Attack, and Faurot Men Nearly Wrest Last-Minute Victory.

Warrensburg, Mo., Nov. 6.—The Warrensburg Mules went into undisputed first place in the M. I. A. A. race here yesterday afternoon by defeating the Kirksville Bulldogs, 19 to 12, in one of the hardest games ever played on the local field.

Warrensburg outplayed Kirksville during the first, second and third periods but was placed largely on the defense in the final session. During the closing few minutes of play Kirksville opened up an aerial game which nearly swept it to a tie or a victory.

Both teams made fourteen first downs. Kirksville completed thirteen forward passes for 184 yards while Warrensburg's five successful passes gained 161 yards.

Roy Brown made the first touchdown in the second period on a pass. On the play after the kickoff, Williams went over for another score when he raced sixty-five yards after catching a neat pass from Whiteman. Kirksville also scored in this period on a pass, Turner to Craig.

The Mules came back strong in the third quarter and scored a few minutes after the period opened on a left end run with Whiteman carrying the ball. With only a few minutes to play Turner carried the ball over for a touchdown for Kirksville from the 1-yard line where it had been placed by a series of neat passes. Whiteman kicked only one goal.

Captain Williams, Garrison, Scott, Walbridge and Roy Brown did good work for the locals and Turner and L. Craig starred for Kirksville.

Warrensburg has yet to play Maryville, defeated last week by the score of 50 to 7 by Kirksville, and Cape Girardeau, in the M. I. A. A. race.

The line-ups:

Mules	Position	Kirksville
M. Brown	R. E.	Craig
Patterson	R. T.	Barker
Gibson	R. G.	Adams
Walbridge	C.	Downing
Dick	L. G.	Vail

Garrison	L. E.	Chevailer
Whiteman	Q.	Turner
K. Brown	R. H.	Simmons
Scott	L. H.	L. Craig
	F. B.	Fuerst

Substitutes: For Warrensburg—Adams, Cull, Draper and McGraw. For Kirksville—Oson, Cottle, Dueringer, Hutcheson and Baltzell. John Bunn from K. U., refereed. Davis from Pittsburg, umpired. Proctor, Emporia, served as head linesman.

Hopkins Court Teams Win a Doubleheader

Sheridan Boys Are Defeated, 19-10, While Girls Lose by 41-9 Score. —Hopkins and Parnell Next.

Both the Bulldogs and the Bluebirds of Hopkins High School won impressive victories in double header basketball games played on the Sheridan outdoor court Friday afternoon.

In the girl's scramble, Hopkins took the lead from the first and held it until the end, at which time the score was 41-9 for the Blues. Airtight defense and accurate passing were features of the winning team's play. In this one-sided game the Hopkins girls showed a great improvement over last year.

Line-ups for girls:

HOPKINS (41)	FG	FT
Andrews, f	10	1
Hall, f	9	0
Miller, c	0	0
Peery, g	0	0
Hoxworth, g	0	0
Winters, g	0	0
Sharr, f	1	0
Total	20	1
SHERIDAN (9)	FG	FT
Young, f	0	3
Clutty, f	6	0
Dow, c	0	0
Merckling, c	0	0
Total	6	3

The boys' fracas, although the Bulldogs finished well in the lead, 19-10, was at all times exciting, and neither team was quite sure of winning until the last quarter, when the Hopkins delegation went on a scoring rampage. Sheridan's scores were gained mostly on long shots, while Hopkins scored by passing near the goal and making short throws.

The Hopkins boys were at a disadvantage in that the court was considerably larger than their own.

Lineups:

HOPKINS (19)	FG	FT
Pistole, f	1	1
Mutti, f	3	1
Baker, c	3	1
Wallace, g	0	0
Sayler, g	1	0
Flowers, g	0	0

Sheridan's lineup was unobtainable.

Hopkins will play a double header with Parnell in the Hopkins gymnasium, next Friday night.

Mules Defeat Bulldogs and the Bearcats Play Mules on Thursday

By WILLIAM L. MAPEL.

Hee Haw!

And Warrensburg beat Kirksville. By golly! Talk about the thing which gives the dopester heartache—this was the bitter pill for all who dared forecast Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association football.

Kirksville—the much-touted Kirksville, the team which romped over Maryville 50 to 7, the team which downed Cape Girardeau 23 to 0, the team which was slated to breeze through M. I. A. A. contests in a blaze of glory and find resting place in the fo' castle of the good ship Champion—this Kirksville dropped down to Warrensburg yesterday to whet a Bulldog's hunger on a slice of Mule meat, and the Mule kicked. Oh boy, what a wallop. That old Mule must have winked an eye when the Bulldog frisked around him. He must have bided his time, and then, when the moment was ripe, he must have lashed out with those touchdown-shod feet of his and just naturally kicked the Bulldog into the middle of next week perhaps, and certainly into second place in the conference.

And now, son of a football fan, cock your feet up on the mahogany, light the old briar, turn on the loud speaker, and list ye to a dab o' gossip.

Warrensburg is undefeated. Warrensburg holds the M. I. A. A. leadership, and Warrensburg comes to Maryville next Thursday for a game with the Bearcats of the School on the Hill, commonly known as the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College.

Next Thursday is November 11, and on November 11, nineteen hundred and some odd years anno domini, the war ended. But war is just about to begin, if you'll take a gentle tip. The Missouri Mule is looking a great deal like Napoleon, and you know what happened to old Nappy when he met Mr. Water's charming daughter, Lou.

'Cause Bearcat meat is mighty indigestible. (That's another tip.) Yesterday, when news of the Warrensburg victory found its way into the sweat shop, (which is the Bearcat dressing room,) some score and a half Bearcats tumbled out of showerbaths and jersies, in whichever case it might have been, and vowed a mighty vow that they would watch the Mule's kick on Armistice Day, and that the laurel wreath of victory will rest upon the brow of no donkey.

Here's the way the Bearcats look at the matter. They won from Springfield, 3 to 0, with Captain Eads out of the game. Captain Eads, who, by the by, is a potent Bearcat factor, will be in Thursday's game. Now Warrensburg won from Springfield, 7 to 0. And the Bearcats say, in their characteristic half-bear, half-cat way, that Warrensburg isn't 4 points better than they are—and that's that.

At any rate, the game is to be played on Armistice Day, and it's getting late, so this station is signing off.

Yours for Mule wails in the static.

Sports Writer Lauds Bearcats' Quarter

Vodre Willoughby, diminutive quarterback of the State Teachers College Bearcats, broke into the hall of fame yesterday, when he received special mention in the "Over the Crossbar" colume of the Kansas City Star. The column had this comment:

"'Weeny' Willoughby, the Maryville Teachers quarter, is one of the smartest signal callers in the Missouri Colleges. He knows the game and watches all the corners."

CAMERON ON TOWARD GOAL

MARYVILLE FAILS TO STOP CHAMPIONSHIP MARCH.

FINAL SCORE, 12 TO 0

Breaking of Training Rules Partly Responsible for Spoofhounds' Defeat, Coaches Say.

The Cameron Dragons took another step toward the high school football championship of Northwest Missouri yesterday afternoon by triumphing over Maryville High School's Spoofhounds, 12-0.

The game was evenly waged in the first half and it seemed that the Spoofhounds might upset the championship aspirations of the Cameron squad. In the 2nd half, however, the Dragons uncorked some fake plays on which the less experienced Spoofhounds were outwitted. Maryville had some fake plays also, which had worked well in practice, but they did not do so well in actual play.

The Cameron team is enthusiastically supported by the town. The crowd at yesterday's game, according to the Maryville delegation, was far greater than those which attended the high school contests here. Bleachers on both sides of the field were filled, and the other two sides of the gridiron were lined with cars.

Although defeated by twelve points, the Spoofhounds had some solace in holding the strong Cameron team to a small score. It was generally predicted before the game that the Cameron margin would be at least fourteen points.

Lack of training—too many cigarettes—told heavily against some members of the Maryville team, according to Coaches C. W. Croy and Hugh Graham. The coaches have spent considerable time in impressing on the Spoofhounds that training rules must be more strictly observed and welcomed yesterday's defeat, due to a weakening in the second half, as an object lesson.

"The boys did not have their training for this game up to standard," said Croy. "Cameron played football through the whole game yesterday, and we didn't. That's the difference. Taking it all in all, weather, good field, the large crowd, and the courtesy we found at Cameron, the game was a success."

The coaches likened Cameron's team to Trenton's. The formations of the two teams, they said,, were almost identical. Maryville won from Trenton here.

The Maryville team went through the game with no serious injuries.

"There were no stars in yesterday's game," Coach Croy said. "If any player is to be mentioned, other than to say that the entire team did the best they could, Frank Fisher, who went in as a substitute tackle, showed up well." Coach Graham also said Fisher played remarkably.

Next Thursday Maryville plays at Albany. The coaches are going to try some changes in the line-up in practices next week.

Finds Watch Buried 15 Years; Keeps Time

Concordia, Kan., Nov. 6—The annual "long lost watch" has been found, this time by Richard Anderson who fifteen years ago lost his timepiece while drilling wheat.

He has plowed the field several times each year, but not until this fall did he turn the watch up. A jeweler replaced a few rusted parts and Anderson claims the watch keeps excellent time.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Pettigrew of Maryville and their son, Edward Pettigrew, of Burlington, Ia., are in Rochester, Minn., where the senior Mr. Pettigrew is undergoing treatment.
